He makes love in a pedant s gown, and kneels before his mistress with his pen in one hand and his tablets in the other. He is more engaged in weighing longs and shorts than in contemplrting the charms of the lady; and where he should be observing her smiles, he is only looking for an appropriate spondee. Take the following specimen of his love-songs; it is one of the best of the set: --Si fatale fuit mihi Ut morerer ante mortem; Cur fatale non item fuit, Ut viverem ante vitam? Sed si non valet hoc fato Fieri, ut ante vitam vivam: Fortasse net, et erit Post vivere mortem. They are all in this style. Scaliger prided himself on his classic taste! LVIII, I am in love with Mary Queen of Scots! She is the Morning Star of History. So exquisite was...

Reviews

Simply no phrases to clarify. It is really basic but surprises from the 50 percent of the ebook. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
